

LYCOPOLIS

Ali Luke

Words never hurt anyone...

One Hallowe'en, a group of online roleplayers summon a demon, The Prince of Nightmares. Seth, who's in charge of the game, says it's "just for fun". But disturbing things start to happen in real life: red marks appear on the foreheads of the gamers, and they're all having nightmares about a dark forest.

Secrets come out, friendships are broken, and the boundaries between the real, the virtual and the imaginary become increasingly fractured as the Prince becomes more powerful. Kay, a student at Oxford, is the only person who realises what Seth is doing – and it's up to her to stop him.

Lycopolis* is a fast-paced supernatural thriller, and the first book in a planned trilogy.

Review Excerpts

"This is one of those books I started reading late in the afternoon and then couldn't put down. I stayed up WAAAY too late reading it, because it's the sort of story where you want to read one more chapter and one more after that because you care about the characters, and you're afraid something terrible will happen to them."

– Cheryl M. Reifsnnyder, on Amazon.com

"I love Ali's writing style, her characters, and even the plot (though it's far removed from my normal reading). How good is Lycopolis? Based on it alone, I'll be buying her next novel. Well worth the time and money."

– D. Sherman, on Amazon.com

"Ali writes clearly and concisely, without letting too much prose get in the way of her plot. There isn't a slow spot in Lycopolis: it starts with action and ends with action. She gets into her characters' heads and brings out their individual personalities so that we learn to love every single one of them."

– A.B. Riddle, on Underground Book Reviews

Book Details

Genre: Supernatural thriller / contemporary fantasy

Word count: 85,000

Page count: 303 (US edition) / 255 (UK edition)

Lycopolis is available to buy from:

Amazon US: www.amazon.com/gp/product/B0068R6GAC

Amazon UK: www.amazon.co.uk/gp/product/B0068R6GAC

Smashwords: www.smashwords.com/books/view/121227

Lulu: www.lulu.com/shop/ali-luke/lycopolis/paperback/product-20077185.html

Review copies available (free of charge) in:

.mobi, .epub, .pdf, and paperback

About the Author

Ali Luke loves writing (and reading!) fast-paced fiction with strong characters and a touch of the supernatural. She has an MA (Cantab) in English from Cambridge University and an MA in Creative & Life Writing from Goldsmiths College, University of London.

Through her business, Aliventures, she offers writing and blogging advice (through ebooks, online courses and live workshops). She is currently writing Publishing e-Books For Dummies, which is scheduled for publication by Wiley in September 2012.

Contact Details

Email: ali@aliventures.com

Web: www.lycopolis.co.uk & www.aliventures.com

Twitter: @aliventures

Facebook: www.facebook.com/aliventures